

THE BULLETIN

Your Biweekly Chapter Update

March 6, 2019

Take a crash course in HR

Attend HR-101, the critically acclaimed 2-day business seminar held on March 21 and 22. For those new to the HR field or non-HR managers, administrators or supervisors charged with HR responsibilities this seminar will help you gain an understanding of accepted HR policies, procedures and employment law. Seats are going fast. Register today!

Celebrating 80 Years!

The Dallas Personnel Association (a.k.a. DallasHR) distributed their first Newsletter on May 23, 1945. The publication included a story about established WLB (War Labor Board) policies and upcoming education event details. The publication was called PERSONNELIST. Help us celebrate our 80 years throughout 2019. If you have been a long-time member or a just joined DallasHR tell us why you joined via social media using @DallasHR, #WhyIJoinedDHR.

COMMUNITY CONNECTION

Magic of HR at Networking Event Last Week

Networking Event guests certainly know how sudden a day can be redirected or a person may not actually be who they appear to be when we first meet them. Magician Alan Paoletti entertained the crowd with some magic he performs for audiences around the region. See pictures from the evening.

Executive Breakfast Welcomes 2018 HR Executive of the Year

The 2019 Executive Series began with Andrew Pryor, SVP of HR for ECi Software Solutions, sharing what he did to take an international organization in constant acquisition mode made up of more than 30 different companies to become awarded a 50 Most Engaged Workplaces in North America for three consecutive years in a row. The Executive Series is an invitation only event.
