Conference Format Decision on Hold

With recent spikes in COVID-19 cases and stalls in the Open Texas initiative, DallasHR has decided to pause on sharing announcements on how The HRSouthwest Conference will be presented for 2020 until additional information becomes available.

Though July 1 was our target date to announce the format of the event, it is important to see a reduction in COVID-19 cases before we make a formal announcement. Our decision will be data-driven, with the health and wellness of our community of chief importance.

As such, we will continue to offer “risk-free” registration options which waive cancellation fees until final plans for the 2020 event are announced. Thank you for your patience and please send any questions you may have to info@hrsouthwest.com.
